Magnatone Introduces the Starlite Reverb

ST. LOUIS, MO – January 20, 2025 – (GUITARpr) – Magnatone LLC introduces the Starlite Reverb! This 1x8” combo kicks it up a few notches with the addition of reverb. The Starlite Reverb brings its deceptively powerful stage and studio performance to new heights in a compact size and weight, making it a perfect amp for grab-and-go gigs or studio sessions.

This little powerhouse captures the sound of classic long-pan spring reverb authenticity, thanks to the use of an Accutronics Digi-Log Reverb. Carefully optimized gain stages ensure the reverb seamlessly integrates with the amp’s natural sound, preserving the true classic tone of Magnatone amps.

Obeid Khan, Magnatone’s engineer and tube amp guru, designed this model based on the success of the original Starlite model, and it uses the same classic single-ended amp with a 6V6 power tube. Khan’s unique tone control knob enables players to achieve classic “black-panel or tweed” tones with just a single knob.

Ted Kornblum, President & CEO of Magnatone LLC says “The Starlite Reverb is an amp much bigger than its size and power rating. When you put a microphone on it, it’s all you need!” The Starlite Reverb blends analog tube warmth and lush reverb resulting in a subtle depth and modulation that adds dimension to your tone.

The Starlite Reverb is available to pre-order now in a 1x8” combo or with the matching 1x12” or 2x10” extension speaker cabinet. Shipping begins mid-2025. To learn more about the Starlite Reverb or locate a dealer near you, visit <https://www.magnatoneusa.com>.
