QiJACK by Analysis Plus Launches Dedicated Website with New Quantity (Bulk) Pricing

Built like a tank, QiJACK sets the high-end standard and everything else is just a jack!

FLUSHING, MI – May 28, 2019 – (GuitarPR) – Analysis Plus, the manufacturer of widely acclaimed, patented cables and connectors for the high-end Home and Pro Audio markets, has just launched a dedicated website for its QiJACK line of input/output jacks. At the same time, the company has introduced new, quantity-based pricing for bulk-shipped QiJACK orders as well as an OEM program for manufacturers.

QiJACK is like no other jack on the market. It's built like a tank and designed to sound the best. The secret is in the patent pending rings which expand into an oval shape to give you a consistent grip with two contact points on your plug while substantially reducing resistance for the best possible sound.

QiJACK can be used in a variety of products such as guitars, basses, amplifiers, speaker cabinets, pro audio equipment and much more. Whether you're retrofitting or building new, you can now upgrade a weak link in the chain, and when paired with Analysis Plus cables, you've got a winning combination across the board.

Visit the new QiJACK website for pricing information and more at: <https://QiJack.com>.

At Summer NAMM

See QiJACK and the rest of the extraordinary Analysis Plus line of cables and connectors in Nashville at Summer NAMM, July 18-20 in Booth 206.
