ENKI USA Introduces New AMG Series Cases at Summer NAMM Show

New cases designed for two large-body electric guitars or one acoustic guitar

BOZEMAN, MT – July 16, 2019 – (GuitarPR) – ENKI USA, the designer and builder of the revolutionary AMG Series multi-purpose instrument cases, will introduce two new models designed for larger guitars at the upcoming 2019 Summer NAMM Show.

The new ENKI AMG-2XL will hold two large-bodied electric guitars, such as Gibson 335s and the like, while the ENKI AMG-Acoustic fits Classical through Jumbo size acoustic guitars. Like the ENKI AMG-2 electric guitar and bass cases, the new cases are built with an extremely tough, lightweight Roto-Molded Polyethylene shell and luxurious EVA foam inserts that offer excellent impact resistance and touring convenience.

The AMG-2XL and AMG-Acoustic cases offer the ultimate in protection, versatility and ease of use for touring guitar players and singer/songwriters, on and off the stage. There is nothing on market like the ENKI AMG Series cases. Additional features include:

- 8mm Solid Axle Smooth Glide Wheels
- Removable Lid Design
- Padlock Plate
- Soft EVA Accessories Case
- Limited Lifetime Warranty

“Our goal has always been to design and manufacture the best instrument cases available on the market,” said David Cronk, CEO of ENKI USA. “These new models we’re introducing at Summer NAMM in Nashville will serve an even wider range of players.”
